Our activities

Our activities are identifying, developing and putting on the market peptidomimetic molecules, which can interact with G Protein Coupling Receptors (GPCR), transmembrane receptors, whose stimulation or inhibition regulates the cellular functions affected by many human pathologies.

Our services

UFPeptides supplies high quality services and products for the pharmaceutical industry, in particular custom synthesis of bioactive peptides and research contracts. Our bioactive peptides:

1. are synthesized in solid phase, liquid phase or in combination;
2. undergo quality tests;
3. are economical.

We are widening our skills with:

- SAR studies with the use of computer chemistry, which will lead to silicon estimates and to the development of crucial information for the identification of non-peptidic ligands for GPCR;
- Studies of drug delivery systems, through which peptidic ligands can be used as drugs.

Technology and Equipment

Our operative headquarters are set in the modern pharmacology and pharmaceutical chemistry laboratories of the Pharmaceutical Sciences Department of the Clinical and Experimental Medicine Department – Section of Pharmacology of the University of Ferrara.
